FUGITIVE CAUGHT

After being on the lam for more than 30 years, and raising a family under an assumed name, Jack Hazen has been found and will be extradited back to Florida from Las Vegas. He was wanted for escaping from a prison work camp in 1976. He was doing time over an aggravated assault conviction in Pompano Beach. Hazen is suffering from multiple sclerosis and a brain tumor, but will likely have to complete the remainder of his seven-year sentence. His wife and children in Las Vegas were not aware of his past.
